

CHANGING PLACES TURNS 25!

In 1991 Margaret Fearey Walsh moved from Philadelphia to California without a job – with the entrepreneurial spirit found only in America. In 1993 she created her award winning business - which began as Rent-A-Wife: part housecleaning, errand running and catering service.

The company is now known as Changing Places, and boasts a staff of 25, including interior designers, architects and expert home organizers. In 2015, Changing Places moved to a beautiful headquarters office in San Rafael.

In its 25 years in business, Changing Places:

- Relocated approximately 600 out-of-state moves
- Moved clients to or from 18 countries
- Donated 24.25 tons of household items to various charities
- Diverted 21.75 tons of items from going to landfill
- Worked with 375 clients who hired us more than once
- Brought order and peace of mind to 1350 homes around the world

Margaret and her team graciously thank their clients, crew, realtors, vendors, friends & all those who have supported Changing Places' incredible journey since 1993. As Margaret says, what we do is create miracles every day.
